

English II C
Unit 02
Simple Present
What makes a good job?

- 1. What makes a good job? Try to answer this question taking into account the following ideas:
- a good salary
- respect of others in society
- job security
- a low level of stress
- a high level of training
- the satisfaction of helping other people
- a mental or physical change
- working from home
- 2. Look at the infographic. What do you think an occupational therapist helps patients do? Give examples. Which of the points from exercise I do you think are true for this job?

- 3. Listen to an occupational therapist talking about her job and answer the following questions. Qclick here
- What is the satisfying part of the job?
- What is the more routine part of the job?
- Do you like the sound of the job? Why/ why not?

Grammar time!

Let's have a look at the following sentences:

- ★ I work as an occupational therapist.
- ★ The patient comes to your clinic.
- ★ What do you do exactly?
- ★ Does that give you a lot of satisfaction?
- ★ I don't spend all my time with patients.
- ★ Who comes to see you at the clinic?

Answer the following questions:

- a. Do the verbs in bold describe a permanent or a temporary situation?
- b. When does an affirmative verb have a final -s?
- c. What is the auxiliary (not main) verb in questions and negative sentences?
- d. What is the difference between question 3 and question 6?

Let's practise!

Complete t	he sentences	usina the	correct form	of simple	present.
· · I · · ·

1.	What jobs	(occupational therapists/ help) people with?
2.	A: How long	(they/spend) with each patient?
	B: Well,	(it/depend) on the patient.
3.	How many patients _	(a therapist/ see) each day?
4.	How far (	you/travel) each day?
5.	How much	(an occupational therapist / earn)?
6.	A: Which	(person / help) people with physical injuries: a physiotherapist or an occupational therapist?
	B: They both	But a physiotherapist (not help) you to do specific jobs.		